PURPOSE

The purpose of this Community Engagement Strategy (Strategy) is to establish an implementable plan that invites broad, equitable community participation in the SDC Specific Planning process. The Strategy also aims to build community capacity for effective, long-term engagement in the SDC Specific Plan and other County planning processes. This strategy represents one step in a larger effort to better understand and implement equity into the County's engagement practices.

PRINCIPLES & GOALS

The underlying principles depicted in Figure 1 and the corresponding goals of the Strategy are as follows.

-  Reach out to and engage the full spectrum of community stakeholders impacted by the project, particularly those who have been historically underrepresented. Identify and address barriers to participation.
-  Identify where community members currently gather, accommodate cultural and language needs, and employ a variety of methods to meet the needs of diverse participants.
-  Address issues the community has identified as important, incorporate community input and respond to concerns, and provide accurate and up-to-date information.
-  Manage communications in a manner that is clear, transparent, timely and provides maximum value to the community.
-  Enhance understanding and inform the community about the planning and decision-making process, scope of the project, and opportunities to meaningfully engage over the long term.

COMMUNICATIONS & ENGAGEMENT STRATEGY APPROACH

The SDC Specific Plan Strategy aims to be inclusive of the full spectrum of stakeholders and to build the capacity of groups that have been chronically underrepresented including the Spanish-speaking community, youth, and harder to reach neighborhoods in the vicinity. In this approach, the County and its consultants will work with community partners to convene Spanish-only tailored community engagements that take place before community workshops to provide clarity on the process and identify opportunities for engagement over the long term. A specific desired outcome from these tailored events is to invite participation of the Spanish-speaking community and to specify what barriers need to be removed to increase their participation at community workshops. Similarly, the County will work with youth organizations to increase their participation at community workshops. Supporting youth leaders to engage their peers in these discussions as well as creating a youth track at these events could encourage more meaningful youth involvement.

For more diffuse groups like neighbors south of SDC or recreational users on the SDC campus, using high visibility signs, canvassing door-to-door, and hosting informational booths could help bring those groups into the process.

To support this strategic approach, the County will identify key stakeholder contacts and partner with them to create tailored engagements in August 2021 before the project alternatives are publicly released and the community workshop on alternatives takes place. At these engagements, the County will seek to learn about barriers to participation as well as receive input on the most effective ways to conduct outreach and engagement to these groups. The team will take those learnings and apply them to outreach and design for the project alternatives community workshop in addition to meetings that will take place at key milestones throughout the specific planning process. See Appendix A for Near Term Action Plan.

BACKGROUND

The Sonoma Developmental Center (SDC) is a nationally-recognized institution in the heart of Sonoma Valley. The site includes a large historic campus, agricultural lands, and vast ecological and open space resources. The SDC provided services to persons with developmental disabilities for over 120 years. In 2018 the State of California officially closed the facility and relocated clients to community-based care facilities. The State of California owns the site and has forged a unique partnership with Sonoma County that allows the County, together with the community, to chart the future course for the site. Sonoma County is undertaking a Specific Plan to set a vision for SDC considering land uses, transportation, economic viability, historic preservation, and conservation of the site's important natural resources.

Specific plans create a vision for a defined geographic region and address land use designations, development intensity, and necessary infrastructure and public facilities.

The SDC Specific Plan will be completed in 2022. The first phase, Issues and Opportunities Identification, included project kick-off meetings, initial community outreach, and background studies. Phase 2, Alternatives Exploration, includes the development of three concepts for the SDC site's future. Phase 3, Draft Plan Preparation, will include development of the draft plan and environmental review, and will occur after the selection of the Preferred Alternative. Phase 4, Plan Finalization, includes refining the draft plans and holding public hearings, leading to adoption of the Specific Plan. This Strategy focuses on community engagement for phases 2-4 of the Specific Planning process and will be updated as the process unfolds.

PROJECT ROADMAP & KEY MILESTONES

The below graphic illustrates the anticipated timeline at a glance and key milestones for the effort.

COMMUNICATIONS & ENGAGEMENT TOOLS

A variety of communications and engagement tools will be employed to achieve the community engagement goals for the SDC specific planning process.

Interactive Project Website

The project website [Access Here] is an interactive tool for the public to learn about the SDC Specific Plan. It serves as a channel for distributing and archiving meeting and communication materials as well as a repository for studies and informative, educational materials and key project documents. The project team will coordinate to ensure that the website is updated on a consistent basis. The website is available in English and Spanish.

- The website also includes other features such as:
 - Information about past and upcoming meetings
 - a virtual tour of SDC using a story map [Access Here].
 - A link to sign-up for SDC Specific Plan email updates via MailChimp E-Newsletters [Access Here].

E-Newsletter Project Updates

As described above, the website includes a link to sign-up to receive notifications about important meetings, workshops, and document releases as well as project updates related to the Sonoma Developmental Center Specific Plan. Currently, the email list includes approximately 5,000 email addresses. All outreach and communication materials will provide information for how interested parties can sign up to receive E-Newsletters.

Informational Materials

Developing a variety of informational materials that can be used for ongoing outreach and engagement activities is critical for the success of the project.

- Flyers and postcards: flyers publicizing upcoming events and informing the community about how they can get involved. These materials can be posted at community gathering places, handed out at other events or mailed directly.
- Fact Sheets: Fact sheets allow for more content specific information and education at key milestones in the project.
- Periodic Updates: As stated above, the project team will distribute periodic updates that can then be used by the PAT and other stakeholders for distribution to the groups and organizations they represent using existing communications tools, such as websites, newsletters, social media, list serves, etc.
- Newspaper public service announcements & editorials: The lead agency with assistance from their consultants will coordinate on information and updates for submittal to local news sources. See Media Toolkit below.
- Briefing Packets: Briefing packets allow for organized and strategic dissemination of the informational materials described above. These packets can be delivered to stakeholders at targeted briefings, community workshops or other engagements with the public at large. See Briefing packets would be in English and Spanish may include:
 - A Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ) document

- presentation slide deck that could be tailored to various audiences to provide project background and goals, clarify how the project may affect the community and how the community can get involved
- Factsheet (2-pager) describing the process, key topics and issues, milestones, and how to get involved
- SDC Specific Plan principles

Media Briefing Toolkit

Particularly preceding major events, such as community workshops, it is important to ensure robust local media coverage across media channels, including print, radio and television. The lead agency with assistance from consultants will develop press releases and Public Service Announcements and other informational materials identified above at key points during the project and to publicize public workshops. The press releases will be distributed to local and regional media, the PAT elected officials and via the SDC Specific Plan email distribution list. See Appendix B for Toolkit content.

Social Media

Existing Facebook, Twitter, and other emerging social media technologies may be leveraged to provide updates on milestone progress to the community. Elected officials, stakeholder organizations, and PAT members can share project information via Next Door, Facebook and other social media platforms. However, it is important to note that the lead agency will not moderate discussion on third-party social media pages.

Surveys

Online tools may be used periodically to gather stakeholder ideas and to provide feedback on key issues. Hard copy and online tools may be used periodically to gather stakeholder ideas and to provide feedback on key issues.

On-site Signage & Activities

For more diffuse stakeholder groups, like weekend recreational users on the SDC campus, as well as the broader public, on-site project information via visible signage, particularly publicizing upcoming events, can be an effective tool to encourage participation in the process. On busy days, the lead agency may wish to host an information tent and offer surveys.

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT FORUMS

Public Meetings/Hearings

Public meetings are formal opportunities for community members to provide official comments. The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors and the Planning Commission meetings will be noticed and conducted in accordance with the Ralph M. Brown Act. As specified in Figure 2, the Board of Supervisors will review and provide direction on the Preferred Alternative for the SDC Specific Plan. The Planning Commission will hold a public hearing on the Specific Plan Public Review Draft and Draft Environmental Impact Report (DEIR). Ultimately, the Board of Supervisors and Planning Commission will consider approval of the Final SDC Specific Plan. Additionally, Sonoma Valley is represented by the Sonoma Valley Citizen’s Advisory Commission (SVCAC), which was formed by the Board of Supervisors, and has authority to formally advise the Planning Commission and Board of Supervisors on planning activities in the Valley. The SVCAC will serve as the Brown Act body that makes formal recommendations on the Specific Plan at key points throughout the planning process. The North Valley and Springs Municipal Advisory Council (MAC) also offers a public meeting forum for periodic engagement on the SDC Specific Plan. Each of these meetings offers opportunities for the public to engage with decision-makers during the specific planning process. Public meetings and hearings are an important forum for people to share viewpoints and concerns. However, the specific planning process will also include less formal public workshops to inform the public and solicit feedback and information throughout the process.

Public Workshops

Public workshops provide opportunities for people to learn about the SDC planning process and to provide input and feedback at key milestones throughout the effort. Workshops will be designed using a variety of methods to meet the needs of diverse participants. Workshop formats may include open houses, “stations” where people can ask questions one-on-one, traditional presentations with facilitated question and answer sessions, and other formats. In order to solicit feedback from people who may not be comfortable speaking in public, workshops can include small group breakout discussions, comment cards and other interactive techniques. Whatever format is used, workshops will be designed to maximize opportunities for community input. Workshops may be held on-line as a result of Covid-19 restrictions in compliance with County protocols. In those cases, the project team will utilize creative on-line tools and break-out groups to enhance interaction to the degree possible.

In advance of workshops, every effort will be made to conduct targeted outreach and activate the full suite of communication tools in order to reach and invite the participation of the full spectrum of stakeholders. Through targeted, tailored outreach, the project team will work to understand the needs of stakeholders and address any barriers to participation so as to make workshops accessible, particularly for those who have been historically underrepresented. Workshop materials will be published in English and Spanish. Publicity for workshops will exercise all communication tools and forums to broaden participation at these important events.

Tailored Community Engagements

The lead agency and consulting team, when warranted, will conduct targeted outreach to stakeholder groups, particularly those who have been historically underrepresented in the SDC specific planning process. In order for this outreach to be effective, it is important to engage stakeholders at venues where they already gather. For example, two principal venues have been identified for targeted outreach to the Spanish speaking community in Sonoma Valley: 1) St. Leo's Catholic Church for announcements and small group project briefings; and 2) Supervisor Susan Gorin's (District 1) Charlas Comunitaria, monthly Spanish-language community conversations that are also broadcast after the events via Spanish language television and can be found on Supervisor Gorin's Facebook Page. Other groups, such as neighbors to the south of the SDC campus, youth, and the disability community have been identified for tailored engagement which, in addition to the above examples, could include such methods as door-to-door canvassing, postcards sent via post, school presentations, small community briefings at churches, schools or other accessible venues. These tailored engagements will precede community workshops in order to publicize upcoming workshops and encourage participation, while identifying and attempting to remove barriers to these groups' participation. Refer to Table 2 for specific groups and more detail on tailored engagement strategies.

Planning Advisory Team (PAT)

Permit Sonoma formed a 15-member Planning Advisory Team (PAT) of community members to help inform the planning process. The PAT advises County staff and consultants, reviews Specific Plan materials, and serves as community ambassadors. The PAT promotes a Specific Plan that reflects community needs and goals while recognizing redevelopment opportunities and constraints. The PAT is not a decision-making body. The PAT is a Director's advisory group formed by the Permit Sonoma director to provide input and advice to inform staff decision-making. The PAT was not appointed by a Brown Act body with decision-making authority in the County, such as the Planning Commission or Board of Supervisors. The PAT does not have decision-making authority on the Specific Plan. As an advisory body, the PAT is meant to educate staff on issues and sensitivities in the community so that the planning effort can be more informed when material is prepared and presented to the public and decision-making bodies. PAT members will advise on community outreach and engagement. They serve as community ambassadors and will use their existing networks and their own communication channels to help publicize public workshops and other public opportunities to participate in the specific planning effort. The project team will provide informational materials and briefing packets that can be utilized by PAT members. For more information about the PAT: <https://www.sdcspecificplan.com/planning-advisory-team>

SDC SPECIFIC PLAN PROJECT TEAM ROLES

To ensure transparency and accountability throughout the planning process, it is important for community members to understand who is involved in the development of the SDC Specific Plan. Members of the project team will be published on the website and contact information for the lead agency, consulting project lead, and community engagement lead will be made available to community members via the project website and on relevant informational materials and communications.

EVALUATION & ASSESSMENT

Any communication strategy should include opportunities to check in at various points during implementation to ensure that it is meeting the stated communication and engagement goals. The project team will include evaluation forms at community workshops and targeted briefings, consider periodic surveys, and solicit feedback from the PAT on a periodic basis.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH & ENGAGEMENT ACTIVITIES TO DATE

This Strategy is informed by and builds upon prior outreach and engagement activities since 2013. These activities comprise a continuum of community outreach and engagement for SDC. Table 1 describes key outreach events and provides links to reports summarizing the outcomes from those activities.
